Wax Bullets For Duel Practice.

The pistol shooting world has been stirred by an invention consisting of bullets made of a compound of wax and tallow which will allow sham duels with the pistol to take place in the same form as fencing bouts, says a Paris cable dispatch to the New York Herald. The bullets are sufficiently hard to permit good aim and soft enough to be harmless. This is said to be good practice for would be duellists, as it will teach them to show only the right side of the body.
